SPADINA BUS RAISES QUITE A FUSS

The Shuffle Demons get on board the Spadina bus Thursday to promote their new CD and help get the word out about TTC's repairs-related shutdown of Spadina streetcar service. Passengers were invited onto the bus with no fare required. Most looked confused when they boarded, but many danced in their seats or sang along, if they were old enough to know the lyrics to The Demons' 1986 hit Spadina Bus. Data shows not all cops co-operate with SIU

Investigating the police. Stats show GTA police officers at the heart of an investigation rarely give an interview and turn over their notes to SIU

The public has heard for years that police officers don't fully co-operate with Special Investigations Unit (SIU) investigations.

But there was no raw data to back up this claim — until now.

Statistics produced exclusively for Torstar News Service show that the vast majority of GTA police officers at the heart of an investigation refuse to give an interview and turn over their notes to the SIU.

Without full disclosure, the SIU can't examine all cases as thoroughly as it would like to determine if police are justified in using force when someone is seriously hurt or killed.

Breaking down the rates for 2010 and 2011 in Halton, Peel, Toronto, Durham and York, as well as Hamilton, the SIU statistics show a wide range of participation. In Toronto last year, only 38.2 per cent of subject officers submitted to an interview and turned over their notes in 45 investigations.

That number was worse the year before — 31.7 per cent in 40 investigations.

Some officers, however, agreed to interviews but refused to submit their notes, and vice versa.

The highest participation rates are in Hamilton. In 2010, 19 of 21 subject officers, or 90.5 per cent, consented to an interview and provided duty notes. In 2011, that percentage dropped to 84.6 per cent, with 11 of 13 subject officers participating fully.

TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Lowest participation rate

- The lowest full participation rate over two years is in Halton, where not one officer consented to both an interview and submission of notes.

Once around the track with Tagliani

Honda Indy Toronto. Canadian racing star looks forward to the 'fantastic' atmosphere of Sunday's event

MARK TOLJAGIC
toronto@metronews.ca

Think auto racing isn't a sport? One look at trim Canadian racing star Alex Tagliani and it's apparent this is an athlete who trains hard to be at the top of his game.

"I'm doing a lot of cycling, blading and cross-training to work on my cardiovascular system — I'm training for endurance, not for muscle mass," the affable ex-Montrealer explained.

"A big upper body will get squashed by the belts, and your heart works too hard. Train for endurance and you can handle the race car's G-forces."

Tagliani was speaking in the Bryan Herta Autosport paddock on Thursday, ahead of this weekend's Honda Indy Toronto event, the 26th year thunderous race cars have come to Exhibition Place.

Toronto is a popular stop in the 16-race IZOD IndyCar Series. Organizers gush about the level of enthusiasm shown by Toronto race fans, something Tagliani knows well. "The atmosphere created by the spectators here is fantastic," he said.

Unlike the historic Indianapolis 500 that uses an oval track, Toronto's IndyCar race is run on public streets around Exhibition Place, a mishmash of concrete and asphalt surfaces that drivers struggle to master quickly.

Start your engines

Meet the 2012 IndyCar racecar:

- All Indy teams use the same model manufactured by Dallara. Engines are supplied by Honda and, for the first time in a while, Chevrolet and Lotus. Look for their logos.
- Engines can be no more than 2.2 L in displacement (four or six cylinders), replacing previous normally aspirated 3.0 L V8s. Turbocharging is permitted.

Tagliani says winning in Toronto requires both driving skill and precise set-up of the car's suspension and gearbox to optimize performance on what is a notoriously bumpy 2.8-kilometre race course.

The City of Toronto received a wish list of road improvements after last year's event and several segments were repaved in time for this weekend's race — welcome news for drivers who inspected the track on Thursday.

There's plenty of action for motorsports fans. In addition to the IndyCar race on Sunday, the course will host the Firestone Indy Lights, Star Mazda Championship and Ferrari Challenge races throughout the weekend.

Business entrepreneur Robert Herjavec, star of CBC's Dragon's Den and ABC's Shark Tank, will serve as Honda Indy Toronto Grand Marshal, and will be piloting his own car in the Ferrari Challenge (he won Rookie of the Year in 2011).

Thanks to the Ontario Honda Dealers Association, Exhibition Place is admission-free on Friday, allowing spectators to enjoy every vantage point on the track as racers complete their practice runs.

Attendees are encouraged to donate to Make-A-Wish Canada, which makes the wishes of children with life-threatening medical conditions come true.

Alex Tagliani sits on a wheel of the No. 98 Team Barracuda car at the Bryan Herta Autosport paddock on Thursday. It's the same car he will race on Sunday in the Honda Indy Toronto. MIKE PALMER/FOR METRO

Homicide No. 26

Killer's bullets wake up quiet west-end area

Police hope security cameras may help solve the murder of a man in his 20s in an upscale neighbourhood in the west end. The man was pronounced dead at the scene after being shot multiple times on Thursday.

Police couldn't comment on a report the murdered man was in his pyjamas. Numerous residents of the area, which is near Burnhamthorpe Road and The East Mall, called 911 after hearing gunshots.

Police said a car was seen fleeing south on Meadowbank Road immediately after the shooting.

Homicide investigators cordoned off a large section of the quiet residential street with yellow tape, including a vehicle with occupants.

Police identified the victim and are expected to announce his identity and details on his cause of death on Friday. It was Toronto's 26th homicide of the year.

Feds allow ferries to up capacity

Months after forcing two Toronto Islands ferries to cut their passenger loads nearly in half, Transport Canada rolled back its capacity restrictions Thursday following heavy pressure from city staff.

The two ferries, the Thomas Rennie and the Sam McBride, are now permitted to carry 736 people. Both boats, run by the city's parks department, had their capacities cut by nearly 50 per cent to 524 passengers earlier this year to meet federal marine safety standards.

Blackout

Thousands swelter during downtown power outage

A widespread blackout cut power for thousands of people in downtown Toronto on Thursday night.

The outage ran from Yonge Street east to Parliament and from Lake Shore Boulevard north to Dundas, police said. Up to 5,550 people were affected, according to a blackout map posted by Toronto Hydro.

The outage meant the homes were without air conditioning on one of the hottest days this summer, as the city issued an extreme heat alert for the second day in a row on Thursday.

The cause of the outage was unknown as of press time on Thursday night. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Crime

Cops nab teen after threats made on home

Toronto Police have arrested a 17-year-old boy in connection with attacks on a Scarborough home where a young family say they have been terrorized by local teenagers for more than a year.

The teen boy, whose name cannot be released under the Youth Criminal Justice Act, is charged with threatening property damage. He was arrested on Wednesday and scheduled to appear in court on Thursday morning, a release said.

The charged teen is alleged to have approached the home of Mike Greer, 37, and his family in West Rouge on Monday at 8 p.m. in a Pontiac G5 and uttered threats. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Toronto home sales down, but prices rising

Cooling market. New mortgage lending rules in effect July 9 will affect sales further, experts predict

Toronto-area house hunters took a vacation from open houses and bidding wars in June after an earlier than usual buying spree in April and May.

Home sales declined by 5.4 per cent across the GTA last month, led by a 13 per cent downturn in sales in the City of Toronto over June 2011, the Toronto Real Estate Board (TREB) says.

But even last month's breather in buying had virtually no impact on prices: The average GTA home sold for $508,622, up by 7.3 per cent from June 2011.

That means in the past year alone, the average price of a home in the 905 regions has risen to $481,512 from $448,579, while a house in the City of Toronto has jumped to $554,077 from $511,591, TREB says.

"Right now market conditions remain tight," with listings continuing to lag demand, said Jason Mercer, TREB senior analyst, "so we continue to report strong price growth." TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Buyers take a breather

- The resale-condo sector saw the biggest sales decline, dipping 20 per cent in the 905 regions and 18 per cent in the City of Toronto in June over a year earlier.
- In context, however, home sales in Vancouver fell by 28 per cent, the biggest decline in a decade in what has long been Canada's hottest real-estate market.

How are you feeling?

Had you talked to me two or three days ago I was sort of in this initial slump, where the novelty had worn off … and I was like, 'what am I doing!' But now I've sort of gotten into a groove and I'm actually kind of enjoying myself, which is strange.

How does a big guy sleep in a little car?

The back seats fold down and I kind of sleep at a diagonal. I've got this ritual now, because I need to unpack and re-shuffle everything and then my bag of clothes usually goes on the roof at night to make it all fit. (I sleep parked) in a locked building … (and) hang out with the security guards all the time. They're the best.

What's been the biggest surprise?

Everywhere I park, due to the media coverage and because the car is just obnoxious looking, people will just walk right up and a lot of them call me by name now…

Does anything hurt?

I've developed this little slouch, but otherwise the surprising thing is what you can become accustomed to in a short amount of time.

What does your girlfriend have to say about this?

She (Elyssia Sasaki) and I met in musical theatre four years ago back in British Columbia and we both moved to Toronto for post-secondary. She is an experimental theatre maker so she almost sees it as performance art and likes it from that perspective. She's been supportive but it is as difficult as you think it would be.

How do you spend time together?

I saw her (Tuesday) and we had a picnic.... Well, meaning she made food and then brought it to the car and we parked somewhere and ate it. I prefer calling that a picnic because it sounds better than 'can you please cook me food and bring it to me and maybe hang out with me while I eat it.' I've heard there is a drive-in movie theatre near Lakeshore.… I want to see Batman.

Transportation innovation

Look ma, no driver! — pod cars on way

Door-to-door transit could be on its way to Toronto.

If successful, prototypes that exist in England and in the United Arab Emirates would transform transit in our city by 2040.

Matt Hexemer, lead designer of a team working on a pod car, said the driverless vehicles would reduce road congestion.

"I think of the benefits to the city, freeing up the space from parking lots and garages, it frees up the city to have more social space and exchange space," Hexemer said. His team's pod car is exhibited at MOVE: The Transportation Exhibit at Evergreen Brick Works until Oct. 28.

At Heathrow airport in London, electric pod cars run on tracks connecting Terminal 5 with two stations parking lots 1.2 miles away. They are said to use 50 per cent less energy than diesel-burning buses.

In Masdar, a United Arab Emirates city planned for sustainability, the transit system was built underground to reduce traffic on streets and pod cars are being tested. They run from a parking lot to the Institute of Science and Technology — an 800-metre journey — in about two minutes.

Pod car systems are in construction in Suncheon, South Korea and Amritsar, India.

According to the exhibit, one in five 18- to 25-year-olds have no emotional ties with cars and 30 per cent of millennials (ages 16 to 32) would not exchange costly items like travel or an apartment for ownership of a car. MELISSA REBER/FOR METRO

Mother, son plead guilty to incest

A 53-year-old woman and her 35-year-old son pleaded guilty to incest in an Ottawa court Thursday. The two were seen having intercourse by a family member — the woman's daughter and man's older sister — in May 2010, according to Crown lawyer Caroline Thibault. They received suspended sentences, the mother 24 months and the son 12 months.

Judge uses Google map in case ruling

A Taiwanese judge has used a Google Street View map showing an unleashed dog to hold a man responsible for his neighbour's bicycle accident. The defendant in the case denied being the dog's owner and causing injury through negligence.

The victim testified he became scared after the dog began pursuing him while he was riding his bicycle last July. He said he fell off the bike and injured his forehead. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Leaked emails reveal Syria's ties to Italy

WikiLeaks. Material is embarrassing to both Syria and the country's opponents: Assange

The first batch of 2.4 million emails from Syria being released by the whistleblowing WikiLeaks reveals alleged high-level deals by an international arms and telecom supplier to equip the regime.

The 16-month uprising in Syria against the government of President Bashar Assad has killed at least 10,000 people, according to United Nations figures.

Finmeccanica "sold to Syria ... the Tetra system, a communications network that allows conversations and transmission of data," L'Espresso newspaper reported Thursday. Finmeccanica is 30 per cent owned by the Italian government.

Whistleblower

"It helps us not merely to criticize one group or another, but to understand their interests, actions and thoughts. It is only through understanding this conflict that we can hope to resolve it."

WikiLeaks founder Julian Assange in a statement on the group's website.

The $50 million system allowed interception-proof encrypted communications that could connect to any vehicle, including helicopters.

Part of the export, the report said, "must be authorized by the Italian government." The contract, it said, dates back to 2008 and reveals "the relationship with the Italian parent (company) for the Syrian program has been intense and continuous."

Finmeccanica, a supplier to the U.S. defence department, also sold its technology to the Iranian Interior Ministry in 2007, the Spanish publication Publico.ex reported.

The Finmeccanica story is the first of many to come "over the months and years" from the email cache, WikiLeaks' Sarah Harrison told journalists at London's Frontline Club Thursday.

The WikiLeaks database comprises 2,434,899 emails from 680 domains, the site said.

Seven news organizations that partnered with WikiLeaks began publishing stories based on data they analyzed, including L'Espresso, Publico and Al-Akhbar. The Finmeccanica story dominated their accounts.

Air France. Crash probe cites faulty equipment, pilot mistakes

A combination of faulty sensors and mistakes by inadequately trained pilots caused an Air France jet to plunge into the Atlantic Ocean in 2009, killing all 228 people aboard in the airline's deadliest crash ever, French investigators with the Bureau for Investigations and Analysis said Thursday.

Airbus, the plane's manufacturer, said in a statement that it is working to improve speed sensors and making other efforts to avoid future accidents.

Air France insisted the pilots "acted in line with the information provided by the cockpit instruments and systems ... The reading of the various data did not enable them to apply the appropriate action."

The bureau's analysis lists a combination of "human and technical factors" behind the crash. The plane flying from Rio de Janeiro to Paris slammed into the sea during a nighttime thunderstorm on June 1, 2009.

Pecking order

In honour of International Kissing Day, we plant six of the most sensuously significant smooches to grace the big screen—and all the juicy collateral cooties that go along with them — on you. MIKE DOJC For Metro

Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs (1937): You really can't get more romantic than the spell-breaking power of love's first kiss. Throw in Doc, Grumpy, Happy, Sleepy, Bashful, Sneezy, and Dopey, plus a Noah's Ark worth of cuddly woodland creatures looking all weepy eyed before the prince's peck, and the anticipation is bases-loaded heart-thumping. Then Snow White awakens from her poisoned-apple coma and the crowd goes crazy as the heroine and her hero ride off into the sunset.

Lady and the Tramp (1955): After they each slurp down a strand from a shared plate of spaghetti, the restaurateur enhances the mood by serenading the star-crossed pooches with Bella Notte on his accordion. While lost in the melody, they find themselves munching on opposite ends of a long noodle. The brief snout-on-snout action is cut short by Lady's shyness, but then Tramp nuzzles a meatball toward her and puppy love twinkles in both their eyes.

Planet of the Apes (1968): "Doctor, I'd Like to kiss you goodbye," Taylor says. "All right ... but you're so damned ugly," replies Zira before allowing Charlton Heston to peck her on the lips. It's the last sweet interspecies moment in the sci-fi classic before the famous "damn you all to hell" denouement, when the astronaut sees the remnants of the Statue of Liberty while riding along the shoreline and comes to the stunning realization that he's not on an alien planet after all, but on a post-apocalyptic Earth.

Ghost (1990): The steamy potter's wheel scene with Patrick Swayze placing his hands over Demi Moore's clay-covered fingers and nibbling on her neck, while the Righteous Brothers' saccharine Unchained Melody played in the background, jump-started a glaze craze that is still with us over 20 years later. The scene has been paid homage to and parodied ad nauseum, most recently in an episode of NBC's Community, where a pottery teacher adopts a zero-Ghost-tolerance policy of both "ironic" and "sincere" re-enactments.

Spider-Man (2002): "You have a knack for saving my life. I think I have a superhero stalker," a rain-soaked Mary-Jane (Kirsten Dunst) teases before pulling away half of Spider-Man's (Tobey Maguire) mask to access his lips. The ensuing dangling, upside-down smooch inspired thousands of couples to try the move out on jungle gyms and other inversion apparatuses. Home-gamers recreating the tender Spidey moment, here's a tip: The horizontal version is a lot safer.

Twilight (2008): "Just stay very still ... don't move," Edward warns while leaning in. A breathy make-out session is always more exciting when there's a chance a vampire's hormones will go out of control and the affair will turn into a bloodletting. The chaste passion between Bella and her sensitive bloodsucker boyfriend (they wait four movies and until marriage before going all the way) stirred up an uproar in some circles with debates raging about whether they should condone or condemn the fictional relationship.

Nothing wrong with a little affection

New survey. Most Canadians say they're unfazed by PDA

LIA GRAINGER
toronto@metronews.ca

Are you a fan of the PDA? Friday is International Kissing Day, and a new survey from the matchmaking website Zoosk.com has found the vast majority of Canadians have no problems puckering up in public.

The history of the kiss

- Prehistoric times. Couples kiss to taste saliva and find a suitable mate.
- 1500 BC. Vedic Sanskrit texts from India reference "drinking moisture of the lips."
- 300 AD. The Kama Sutra contains an entire chapter on kissing.
- 0-500 AD. The Romans, a kiss-crazy people, spread the practice across their empire.
- 1800s. The hand kiss becomes popularized in England.
- 1872. Charles Darwin hypothesizes kissing is an innate urge all humans share.

Of the more than 1,163 Canadians surveyed, a whopping 93 per cent confessed they were fine with public displays of affection. Women are ever-so-slightly more modest than their male counterparts: 51 per cent of the ladies who responded said that public kissing in moderation is fine, while 61 per cent of the fellas said anything goes.

"The high numbers of people that are OK with PDA is indicative of our easy-going tolerance and acceptance — qualities that are consummately Canadian," says Toronto etiquette expert Karen Cleveland. She says that attitudes towards kissing in public have softened over the years, but is quick to warn there is still such a thing as going too far.

"A good rule of thumb is to avoid doing anything you'd be embarrassed to do in front of your grandparents," says Cleveland. "That means no groping and no tongue."

Dating consultant Shannon Tebb says location matters. "If you're on a subway car or in a doctor's office — anywhere confined with other people — it's probably best to avoid big displays," says Tebb. "If you're on the street, it's more acceptable."

If you've decided to go for the public smooch, why not make your partner happy? According to Zoosk.com, most Canadian men prefer sensual kisses on the lips, while the majority of women like the so-called French kiss.

Those with female partners should be extra observant, as most women said being with a good kisser is important. But men were less concerned because their partners "may be better at other things." We'll let you ponder that one for yourselves.

We asked: What was your worst kiss?

"After a bag of nacho-cheese Doritos. Full-on tongue. That was terrible."

Rachel Fine, 27, master's student/bartender

"My first spin the bottle in Grade 7. I had never French-kissed. He came at me tongue out."

Melanie Spence, 28, unemployed

"Truth or dare in high school. It was one of those friends you just don't want to kiss."

Natisha Cohen, 27, instructor

"It involved a lot of teeth, which is never good."

Shane Adamczak, 29, performer

"In high school with this really dumb guy. I don't know why I was with him."

Natalie Bartlett, 27, registered nurse

"I've never had one. Kisses are great."

Evan Thompson, 49, philosophy teacher

Boy who grew hair for good cause endured months of bullying

Snip, snip and it's gone.

"Now that I got rid of my hair, there's no way they can make fun of me," said 10-year-old William Panter while getting about eight inches of hair cut off on Thursday.

He grew his hair for about 18 months, putting up with teasing and name-calling, until it was long enough to make a wig for someone with cancer.

His grandmother died from the disease in March 2011. Her death was very hard on him, but he realized what he could do to help someone. The hair, cut at Diann's Hair Salon in Orleans, Ont., which often does Cuts For Cancer fundraisers, will go to the Ottawa Regional Cancer Foundation.

His dad, Nik Panter, said the past year-and-a-half of hair-growing hasn't been easy on his son.

"I've got a 10-year-old who's been openly called a f-- and gay," he said.

Kids of all ages called William those names because his hair was different, said Nik. William, an intelligent kid who grew up in a tolerant household, knows what those words mean but struggled to understand why they were supposed to hurt him.

An adult soccer coach, old enough to know better, would repeatedly refer to William as girl, despite being fully aware he isn't one, said Nik.

"It's not too hard to figure out how a lot of these kids know how to call other people names," said Nik.

One of the names he got at school was "brownielocks," William said.

"I was at a new school and the main bully kept making fun of me," he said. That bully and some of the other students didn't know why he was growing out his hair, but he hopes they'll now regret what they said.

JESSICA SMITH/METRO IN OTTAWA

While Diann Laland cuts his hair, William Panter, 10, looks at one of the braids of hair he's donating to be made into a wig for a cancer patient.

Canada not helping jailed citizen in China, wife says

Dissent. Refugee who spoke against human rights abuses in China serving life in prison

The wife of a Canadian citizen who is serving a life sentence in China for speaking out on behalf of the country's Uighur minority says the Canadian government has all but forgotten about him.

Kamila Telendibaeva says her husband, Huseyin Celil, a refugee from China's troubled Xinjiang region, has been punished because he spoke out about the democratic and religious rights for the Muslim minority group.

Human rights activists say Beijing considers anyone in the Uighur community who attempts to promote their culture or religious values, or who speaks out about greater autonomy for the Uighur people, a terrorist.

Junior foreign affairs minister Diane Ablonczy says her department was engaged in Celil's case but admits diplomatic hurdles complicated the government's attempt to push for his release.

Celil escaped from China in 1994 when the terrorism charges first surfaced. In 2006, while visiting his wife's family in Uzbekistan, Celil was detained by Uzbek police and deported to China without the consent of the Canadian government.

Members of the Uighur community gathered outside the Chinese consulate in Toronto on Thursday to mark the third anniversary of the deadly 2009 riots.

Attending the rally was important for a 19-year-old Uighur refugee seeking political asylum in Canada. She said her brother was arrested during the riots and several of her classmates disappeared.

"That's why I've come here, because they could not say anything," said Miyesser, who did not want her last name used for fear her political activism could put the lives of her family, who are still in China, at risk.

"This is a free country and maybe I can make their words heard," she said through a translator.

Celil's wife said it's been months since she last received an update on her husband's case from the Canadian government.

"I'm frustrated," Telendibaeva told The Canadian Press. "I didn't receive anything from the Foreign Affairs Department and I didn't get any information from the Chinese authorities." THE CANADIAN PRESS

No. Korean-reunification activist arrested after three-month stint in North

A South Korean activist was arrested as soon as he set foot on home soil Thursday, resisting police in a stunt of defiance after an unapproved, three-month stay in the North.

Turning around to face crowds of cheering North Koreans before stepping over the line, No Su-hui raised his arms and shouted "Long live reunification," a white unified-Korea flag in his right hand and a bouquet of flowers in his left. Behind him on the South Korean side, soldiers stood in taekwondo poses, their eyes concealed behind dark sunglasses.

The stunt by No, 68, was designed to draw attention to the division of the Korean Peninsula. He had gone to Pyongyang from China in March even though South Koreans are prohibited from travelling to North Korea without government approval.

"The conservative forces are saying they will put me on trial, but I will judge them," No said. "Please watch and see what will happen."

No, who is vice-chairman of South Korea's Pan-Alliance for Korea's Reunification, was dressed in a grey suit and white tie, with a pin of unified Korea on his jacket. His pointed decision to cross back through the truce village of Panmunjom was a highly symbolic move to draw attention to his cause. Most tourists must enter and exit North Korea via China.

No, who went to Pyongyang to pay his respects to Kim on the 100th day after his death, visited major tourist sites and met with North Korean officials during his visit, North Korea's official Korean Central News Agency said. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Easy to detect. But malware could knock thousands offline

The warnings about the Internet problem have been splashed across Facebook and Google. Internet service providers have sent notices, and the FBI set up a special website. But hundreds of thousands of people around the world may still lose their Internet service Monday unless they do a quick check of their computers for malware that could have taken over their machines more than a year ago.

Despite repeated alerts, the number of computers that probably are infected is more than 277,000 worldwide, down from about 360,000 in April.

Users whose computers are still infected Monday will lose their ability to go online, and they will have to call their service providers for help deleting the malware and reconnecting to the Internet. THE CANADIAN PRESS

In this picture taken late last month, Israeli Arab boys fight during Israel's National Youth Boxing Championship at the Arab village of Kfar Yasif, in northern Israel. Boxing provides a unique chance for young Arab and Jewish competitors to meet in the ring as equals, equipped with helmets and gloves and playing under the same set of rules. ODED BALILTY/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Young Arabs and Jews find common ground in the boxing ring

Trained fighters in Israel. 'We're all just friends, playing together,' says one boy

The bell clangs, the fight starts and the boxers come at each other. On one side is a 13-year-old Arab boy from northern Israel. His opponent comes from a Jewish town.

The Jewish fighter from the blue corner pushes his Arab adversary against the ropes before pummeling him with a barrage of punches.

Jews and Arabs have been fighting each other for decades, so boxing may seem like a strange way to build peace between the two — but that's what the Israel Boxing Association aims for.

"It's important for me for boxing to be a bridge of meeting between young people, between Jews and Arabs in Israel," said IBA General Director William Shihada. "The boxers know each other and train together."

Shihada oversaw Israel's National Youth Boxing Championship last week in three cities over four days. In the final event, nearly 50 competitors in their early teens gathered in a hot community gym in the Israeli coastal city of Acre to fight their last bouts of the season.

"It's difficult because it's the final match," said 13-year-old Muhammad Khamisi, minutes before stepping into the ring. "But I'm ready."

Khamisi, who has been training since age 11, comes from the Israeli Arab town of Kafr Kanna in the north. He played down the conflict between Israeli Arabs and Jews, saying, "we're all just friends playing together."

Outside the ring, there were many signs of friendship. Competitors chatted at ringside, bumped boxing gloves before the first round, and shook hands or patted each other on the back after a hard-fought match. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Children of the poor

The sport's appeal to the economically disadvantaged may explain its popularity among Israeli Arabs, who routinely face discrimination in the job and housing markets and make up something of an underclass in Israel.

- Israeli Arabs constitute roughly one-fifth of Israel's 8 million inhabitants, but produce about 70 per cent of its young boxers, according to Israel Boxing Associationestimates.
- "The poor go to boxing, while the rich go to football, basketball. Only the children of poor people box," said coach Ismaeel Hamad, who has trained fighters in the Arab city of Nazareth for seven years.

Long wait is over as giant panda born at Tokyo zoo

Panda-monium. Baby panda becomes an instant star as major TV networks in Japan flash news of birth

A panda has been born at a Tokyo zoo for the first time in 24 years.

Tokyo's popular Ueno Zoo says the panda was born Thursday to Shin Shin. The seven-year-old mother was brought to Japan from China just before Japan's devastating earthquake and tsunami last year.

The baby's gender was not immediately known. Zoo officials say the pair appear to be in good health but will be monitored around the clock.

It was the first panda born at the zoo since 1988 and was conceived naturally.

Giant pandas have a low birth rate and artificial insemination has been common in captive breeding programs.

The birth of Shin Shin's baby was much anticipated in Japan, and the news was flashed on major television networks Thursday.

You might be Overpaying for Car Insurance

There are ways to save without impacting coverage

Each insurance company charges a different rate to insure the same driver with the same exact coverage – and these rates vary considerably. By not shopping around for car insurance, you could be paying hundreds, or even thousands, of dollars more than you should. Insurers use their own claims experience to determine their rates and each company will have a different history with each driving profile and car combination. This could mean that you are overpaying for car insurance – and with so many insurance companies, odds are you may not be currently insured with the company that offers the best rate for your driving profile.

The car you drive, where you live, where you drive, and your driving record are all factors that may affect your insurance rate. While most of these items are under your control, others such as the insurance company's experience and corresponding rates are not. One insurance company may charge more for being insured in your postal code, while others may charge more for insuring sport cars. Understanding all of these considerations and knowing that each insurance company charges different rates will help you find the best car insurance rate that suits your needs.

The best way to save on your car insurance is to compare your insurance rate to those offered by other companies. But it can be extremely time consuming to compare the rates individually and brokers only offer rates from 4 to 5 different companies. Web sites like InsuranceHotline.com make it easy to compare your rate against the lowest available rates within their network of over 30 insurance companies.

It's not just about saving you money. Wait, it is.

Visit InsuranceHotline.com today and experience a fast, free, and easy service that works for your wallet.

Terrorism arrests. Six detained after early morning raid in London

British police have arrested five men and one woman in London on suspicion of terrorism, the force said in a statement.

The suspects were arrested on suspicion of the commission, preparation or instigation of acts of terrorism, the statement said. It was part of a pre-planned intelligence-led operation, it said.

Police said the arrests are not linked to the upcoming Olympic Games.

The suspects range in age from 18 to 30. Three were arrested in west London and three others at a residential address in east London.

Police said they used a stun gun during the arrest of a 24-year-old man. Officers from the firearms unit were involved, police said.

Local resident John Smallshaw told The Associated Press that he was woken just after 4 a.m. by "five loud bangs in quick succession" when the raid began.

He said he saw police raiding a house and later saw "one young man taken on foot to a waiting ambulance."

Candidate cries foul over spending violations

Mexico's third-place presidential candidate is joining in allegations that the weekend elections were marred by campaign spending violations and inequities that had a decisive effect on the vote.

National Action Party candidate Josefina Vazquez Mota says that even though the violations won't overturn the election results, they should force changes in electoral laws for future votes.

Vazquez Mota joins Andres Manuel Lopez Obrador of the leftist Democratic Revolution Party in complaining of excessive spending by apparent winner Enrique Pena Nieto prior to Sunday's elections.

Judge grants Zimmerman bond again, but now at $1M

Flight risk. Judge said accused's actions suggest a possibility he was preparing to flee with cash from supporters

George Zimmerman, left, and attorney Don West in a Sanford, Fla., court. On Thursday, a judge granted bond for a second time to accused murderer Zimmerman. The amount was set at $1 million US. JOE BURBANK/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The U.S. neighbourhood watch volunteer who killed an unarmed black teenager can be released from jail on a $1 million US bond to await trial in a case that provoked protests, a judge ruled Thursday.

Circuit Judge Kenneth Lester granted bond to George Zimmerman for a second time. The judge had revoked Zimmerman's $150,000 bond last month after prosecutors said Zimmerman and his wife misled the court about how much money they had.

"It is entirely reasonable for this court to find that, but for the requirement that he be placed on electronic monitoring, the defendant and his wife would have fled the United States with at least $130,000 of other people's money," Lester wrote.

Prosecutors said a website Zimmerman created for his legal defence had raised $135,000 at the time of his first bond hearing in April. Zimmerman and his wife did not mention the money then.

Zimmerman has been charged with second-degree murder for fatally shooting 17-year-old Trayvon Martin on Feb. 26 in a Florida community. Zimmerman has pleaded not guilty and claims the shooting was self-defence under the state's "stand your ground" law.

Martin's supporters claim that he was targeted because he was black and that Zimmerman started the confrontation. Zimmerman's father is white and his mother is Hispanic.

WestJet reports growth in June

WestJet Airlines said its flights had fewer empty seats in June compared with a year ago as the airline also increased capacity.

Calgary-based WestJet reported Thursday a load factor — the proportion of seats filled on its flights — of 79 per cent for June, up from 75.7 per cent in June 2011 when Air Canada suffered a brief strike by its customer service agents. The increase came as passenger traffic climbed 6.7 per cent from the same time last year, while capacity increased 2.3 per cent.

"Advanced bookings for July and August remain strong," WestJet CEO Gregg Saretsky said in a statement.

Meanwhile, regional carrier Porter Airlines reported a load factor of 62 per cent for June, down from 64.6 per cent a year ago.

Tim Hortons set to introduce free Wi-Fi

Wireless Internet.
Coffee-and-doughnut chain hopes to go online in more than 2,000 locations by September this year

Double-double addicts will soon have another reason to stop into one of the thousands of Tim Hortons outlets across the country.

The coffee-and-doughnut chain announced Thursday that it is working to roll out free wireless Internet to more than 2,000 locations. It expects 90 per cent of its so-called "traditional" outlets across Canada will offer free Wi-Fi by September.

The plan does not include its non-traditional outlets, including kiosks, gas stations and hospital locations.

The service is being provided through a partnership with Bell.

Tim Hortons joins other chains such as McDonald's, Second Cup and Starbucks that already offer free Wi-Fi access at many of its locations.

MARRIAGE: IMPOSSIBLE

THE LIST
Neil Morton
Metro

1 Tom Cruise at 50. It's been only seven years since the Scientologist jumped on Oprah's couch to profess his love for Katie Holmes. Now, with a pending divorce (Katie apparently wants to protect her daughter Suri from being indoctrinated into Scientology), things are not looking up for Cruise, who turned 50 this week. Eyes Wide Shut.

2 Anderson Cooper. The CNN anchor came out of the closet this week. "The fact is, I'm gay, always have been, always will be, and I couldn't be any more happy, comfortable with myself, and proud," he wrote in an email published on his friend Andrew Sullivan's blog. Cooper decided he was doing more harm than good by not coming out. Kudos.

3 Spain. The football juggernaut staked its claim to being one of the best national sides in history by winning a record third straight major title, routing Italy 4-0 in the Euro 2012 final. What Italy did show is they have one of the more dynamic and stylin' young strikers in football — Mario (Super Mario) Balotelli.

4 Good Afternoon America. Good Morning America is spinning off into a nine-week summer-afternoon series called Good Afternoon America. It launches on Monday, and, if ratings go well and the show continues in the fall, could we see a Good Night America spinoff? Nah, that name is too ominous.

5 Steve Nash. Canada was having Steve Nash fever, with basketball fans across the country salivating at the prospect of the star signing with the Toronto Raptors. But it was all just a Hollywood dream with no happy ending, as Nash instead went to the L.A. Lakers, where he will play with Kobe. And win a title.

6 Carly Rae Jepsen. The pop sensation came to Peterborough, Ont., Wednesday, performing to one of the largest crowds in the history of the city's Little Lake Musicfest. She had the fans in the palms of her hands, finishing the night with them singing along to her summer hit Call Me Maybe. I was there with my daughters, and, shh, was singing right along.

7 London calling. Jessica Zelinka announced herself as possibly being Canada's best female athlete by winning the 100-metre hurdles shortly after breaking her own Canadian record in the heptathlon. She tweeted about her next step: a berth in the Summer Olympics. "@JessicaZelinka: Crashing after riding the high all week. Thanks for sharing this crazy journey with me. London here we come!!"

8 Chris Brown. The bad rapper wannabe released a new verse on a remixed track, I Don't Like, ripping his adversary Drake for their nightclub brawl in June. Brown slams Drake for "throwin' bottles" while he himself is "throwin' models." This stupid boy fight over Rihanna has evolved into the dumbest hip-hop beef in music history.

9 Jose Bautista. The slugger earned his third straight all-star berth when Major League Baseball announced its starting lineups for next week's game in Kansas City. Bautista, who set a Blue Jays record with 14 homers in the month of June, is the silver lining on a Jays team that is going downhill fast with all their injured starting pitchers.

10 Doug Pitt. Brad Pitt's little brother Doug stars in a rather quirky commercial that went viral for Virgin Mobile Australia. In the ad, titled, "Meet Doug Pitt, the second most famous Pitt in his family," we're given a tour by Doug inside his middle-class home and lifestyle. No, Angelina Jolie's brother James Haven does not make a cameo.

11 Train. The band is on a big U.S. tour but is making two Canadian stops next week, one in Montreal (July 10) and the next night in Toronto. So if you're proposing to your girlfriend this summer, the perfect time to do it is with a flash mob at their concert when they're singing Marry Me.

12 Detroit zombie theme park. A Detroit company, Z World Detroit LLC., wants to turn one of the city's abandoned neighbourhoods into a massive zombie theme park. Now there's sure to be a lot of political red tape, but it's definitely one of the more creative solutions proposed to helping turn Detroit's economy around — and a radical rethinking of urban redevelopment.

Raising awareness of euthanized dogs

In this April photo, Taiwanese photographer Tou Chih-kang tries to make a portrait of a puppy in the final moments of its life before the animal was put down by lethal injection at a shelter in Taoyuan, northern Taiwan.

Chih-kang has been visiting dog shelters for two years now, making human-like portraits that give a sense of dignity and esteem to some 400 canines, in hopes of educating the public on the proper care of pets.

Activists say that some 70 per cent of dogs in Taiwanese shelters are killed after a 12-day waiting period.

The pictures are Tou Chih-kang's way of trying to encourage responsibility among Taiwanese dog owners, who abandon their pets when they tire of them.

His photos will be exhibited in a full-scale show in southern Taiwan next month. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Can the leads of Savages hold their own with the scenery? HANDOUT

Reel Guys

RICHARD CROUSE AND MARK BRESLIN

Stone's Savages — flamboyant and fun

Standard drug flick. Savages ticks each requisite off the list — a California cutie, a threesome and Benicio Del Toro as a Mexican bad guy

Richard: Mark, I knew I was in for an over-the-top Oliver Stone movie from Savages' opening minutes. The "wargasm" reference was my first clue and by the time Benicio Del Toro literally twirled his moustache like a pantomime baddie, I knew this wasn't the same director who gave us W and World Trade Center, this is Stone in Natural Born Killers mode. It's wild, but I found it more flamboyant than fun. You?

Mark: Well, Richard, let's see ... guns, drugs, threesomes; sounds like hanging out with Sam Kinison in the '80s. Actually, I think this is Stone's best picture since Reagan was President. He's working viscerally here and you can feel everything: the coastal languors of Laguna Beach, the scuzziness of Mexican border towns, Blake Lively's silken suntan. For a violent popcorn movie, I found it pretty sensual. Did you think the leads held their own with the scenery?

RC: It's definitely a good-looking movie from the stars to the scenery, but I thought the cast was really interesting as well as pretty. Johnson and Kitsch are good and evil, flip sides of the same coin, Lively isn't as sprightly as her name might suggest, but she does do damaged quite well. I also enjoyed Travolta, Hayek and Del Toro chewing the scenery but I felt it hard to care about any of them. They're all rather despicable, and I found myself hoping they'd all end up in a Mexican standoff.

Synopsis

Aaron Johnson and Taylor Kitsch are Ben and Chon, entrepreneurs, drug dealers and two thirds of a love triangle with California cutie Ophelia (Blake Lively). They sell a potent strain of legal medical grade marijuana but also siphon off some for illicit practice and profit, which earns the attention of a Mexican Baja drug Cartel run by Elena (Salma Hayek). She'll do anything to create a "joint" venture, including kidnapping their shared paramour.

- Mark: ●●●●○

MB: Well, it is a drug movie after all, so you know there will be double-crosses galore. I think you're supposed to care about the Blake Lively character, as the innocent of the bunch, but she's a bit vapid to really identify with. Del Toro makes, as usual, a great baddie, although Travolta stole the show for me with his corrupt DEA agent. But you'd think for a guy on the take, he'd have a much better haircut.

RC: Ha! It's a haircut almost as bad as the ending. No spoilers ... but it felt like a cheat.

MB: The ending wants to have its pot brownie and eat it too, but I appreciated the attempt to play with the narrative and our expectations. For me, it was flamboyant and fun.

Scene in brief

Spy style

If there's one thing James Bond has taught us, it's that behind every great spy is a great tailor. A new exhibition at London's Barbican Centre explores the style of the suave secret agent, displaying costumes, props, set pieces and design drawings from half a century of 007 films. Assembled with help from the films' producers, the exhibition includes the spy's tuxedos, Bond girl ballgowns and villains' vestments, as well as a selection of props, gadgets and sketches of the films' exotic sets. It pays tribute to the British, European and American craftspeople and designers who have created the look of the quintessentially British icon. "Designing 007" opens Friday and runs to Sept. 5. It will then tour internationally, opening at the TIFF Bell Lightbox in Toronto in October.

Comedy

To Rome with Love

Director. Woody Allen

Stars. Woody Allen, Penelope Cruz, Alec Baldwin

To Rome with Love is well-meaning, but feels like something Woody Allen would have written 40 years ago. It's an episodic screwball comedy with loads of characters, identity mix-ups and the comic's trademarked highbrow references — will today's audience get a Howard Roark joke? It has the same kind of farcical feel and references of his earlier work — look for older men paired with younger women, anxiety and discussions on foreign film — but written decades ago it might have been funnier.

Unfinished Spaces

Directors. Alysa Nahmias, Benjamin Murray

Stars. Vittorio Garatti, Roberto Gottardi, Ricardo Porro

Cuba's National Art Schools, once the centre of creative life in the country, now lie in ruin. The schools, which were commissioned by Fidel Castro and Che Guevara in 1961, were designed by some of the brightest architects in the country. But as Cuba became more politically aligned with the Soviet Union, construction of "non-productive architecture" was abandoned. Combining archival footage and in-depth interviews with the Schools' architects, Unfinished Spaces brings these beloved but decaying schools back to life.

REGAN REID

Summer summed up in two words: The Avengers

Box office. Fickle fair-weather audiences agree on the Marvel Comics mashup, which accounts for one-third of summer revenues

The Avengers has raked in $600 million domestically. HANDOUT

The audiences are proving far more unpredictable than the movies Hollywood has created to pack them into theatres this summer.

Studios have released a familiar assortment of action tales, family flicks and star-driven comedies since the summer-blockbuster season began in early May. Yet while overall business has been solid, fans have been choosier than usual, spending a fortune on one superhero sensation, kicking in for a handful of midline hits and generally bypassing everything else.

Movies featuring box-office heavyweights Johnny Depp (Dark Shadows), Tom Cruise (Rock of Ages) and Adam Sandler (That's My Boy) fell flat, as did the action spectacle Battleship.

Will Smith and Tommy Lee Jones pulled in fair crowds for Men in Black 3, though the action comedy played to a smaller audience than its predecessors. The animated tales Madagascar 3: Europe's Most Wanted and Brave joined the action adventures Snow White & the Huntsman and Prometheus as $100 million hits.

But nearing its midpoint, a summer that looked like an easy record-breaker at the start really can be summed up in two words: The Avengers. With $600 million domestically, the Marvel Comics superhero mashup accounts for a third of Hollywood's summer revenues, taking in more than the rest of the season's top-five movies combined.

Mira Sorvino finds the 'pinch that creates the ouch'

Union Square. Actress spent a week with the director exploring the nuances of her latest role — a bipolar New Yorker scene@metronews.ca

Mira Sorvino has never forgotten the words of her acting coach: "You have to find the pinch that creates the ouch." Those words resonated with her when she was creating the character of Lucy, a bipolar New Yorker in the drama Union Square.

"You have to come up with something you feel strongly about," she says. "So you have to form scenes or story points in your head with things that did something to you viscerally and that preloads your ammunition so when you get to those parts it all has the resonance its supposed to."

To find that resonance, she spent a week exploring the character with director Nancy Savoca. "It was a rehearsal week in which Nancy kind of transmitted to us the world she was depicting in this movie.

This is about women and she talked about relatives of hers. Not specific to anyone, she's changed everything, and she wouldn't tell us which parts were true and which parts was fiction. She had aunts who were 'nervous' and my character Lucy is 'nervous.' She said in the old days when someone was bipolar they used to call them 'nervous.' Through her stories and her oral transmission she gave us the vibe of everything and then we talked over backstories, but we didn't really rehearse."

The film tells an intimate story about estranged sisters played by Tammy Blanchard and Sorvino, one about to be married, the other about to have a nervous breakdown. Sorvino, an Academy Award winner for her work in Mighty Aphrodite, says she wasn't sure how audiences would react to Lucy.

"In the first 10 minutes of the film I got worried that we were going to lose the audience," she says. "She's up and down and up and down. In the beginning I think it was written in the script that she broke down crying seven times, and I thought that would be too much. I think now it's like five or four-and-a-half."

Union Square opens next Friday. Mira Sorvino plays a bipolar New Yorker.

Miranda Kerr's labour of love a little tougher than expected

Victoria's Secret Angel Miranda Kerr, wife of Orlando Bloom, knew she wanted to have their baby without drugs; she gave birth to son Flynn Christopher back in January. "I had made a decision that I wanted to do it [naturally]," she says in the August issue of Harper's Bazaar UK.

"It was a long, arduous and difficult labour," she continued, "but Orlando was with me the whole time supporting and guiding me through it. I could not have done it without him."

Newlywed Matthew McConaughey adding to the family

Matthew McConaughey and his wife Camila aren't just newlyweds, they're also expecting.

McConaughey's representative confirmed that his wife is pregnant with the couple's third child. Both the actor and his bride tweeted the news on Wednesday.

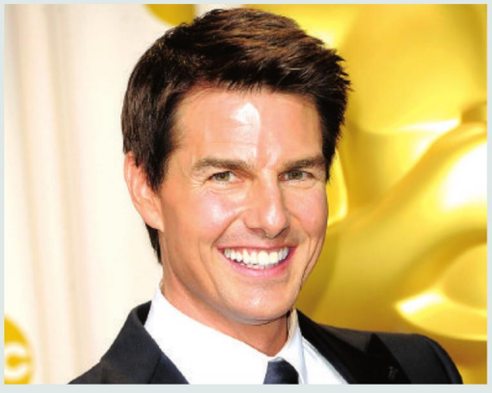
OUR TAKE ON THE WORLD OF CELEBRITIES

The Word



Was TomKat marriage running on Cruise control?

What started as a rather titillating celebrity divorce is now devolving into a sadly familiar one. Tom Cruise has "absolutely no contact with Katie," according to website TMZ, with Cruise talking only to daughter Suri, 6, on the phone, once a day.

Things are "really bitter now," the source tells the site, with Katie "using Suri as a weapon." Meanwhile, photographers caught Holmes laughing at an ice cream parlor with Suri as bodyguards stood on watch.

"He has been Tom Cruise for 30 years," she told Elle magazine, in their just-released issue, which may have offered clues about the divorce to come.

"I know who I am and where I am and where I want to go, so I want to focus on that. I definitely feel much more comfortable in my own skin. I feel sexier," she continued. "I'm starting to come into my own. It's like a new phase."

With Cruise in the news, the paps are suddenly interested in Nicole Kidman, his ex, again.

They caught her having — gasp! — dinner with her husband, country singer Keith Urban, at a Florida restaurant, according to Us Magazine. The 45-year-old divorced Cruise in 2001, after an 11-year marriage.

Claire Danes

Claire Danes expecting first child with husband Hugh Dancy

Claire Danes has some busy months ahead: Not only is her hit TV series Homeland returning for its second season in September, but she's pregnant as well. Danes' rep, Jodi Gottlieb, confirms the actress is expecting her first child with husband Hugh Dancy.

The 33-year-old Danes and 37-year-old Dancy met on the set of the film Evening and were married in 2009 in France. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cookbook

Pushing the vegetarian envelope

A new vegetarian cookbook by two Montreal chefs is pushing the envelope by offering readers dishes that are both classic and internationally inspired.

"From a chef's point of view, it is more important to take a quality product such as locally grown fresh vegetables and use good techniques so that you can have a wonderful result," says Igor Brotto.

He has co-authored The Vegetarian Kitchen Table Cookbook with Olivier Guiriec (Robert Rose, $27.95, paperback).

Among the 275 recipes there are Red Curry Tofu with Shiitake Mushrooms and Bamboo Shoots, Sun-dried Tomato, Brie and Arugula Wraps and Fig and Almond Tart.

As classical chefs used to working with lobster, filet mignon and foie gras, Brotto says he enjoys the chance to relegate the meat to the background to allow the vegetable part of the dish to shine up front on the plate.

Grilled Dessert Pizza. Since you'll be barbecuing this weekend anyway, why not get creative?

For a backyard get-together, dessert has got to be easy and easy going.

And since you're probably making the rest of your meal on the grill anyway, why not use it to prep dessert, too?

This dessert pizza is incredibly quick and versatile. Top it with whatever sweet treats you like, or consider making individual ones and having a dessert pizza bar so people can select their own toppings.

Be sure to let the pizza dough rest at room temperature for about 30 minutes before trying to roll it out. Otherwise, it will be too stiff to work with and will resist stretching.

1. Heat a grill to medium-high.

2. Scatter half of the sugar on a counter top. Place the pizza dough over the sugar and roll out into the sugar. Sprinkle the top of the dough with the remaining sugar, then roll again to press the sugar into the top. You should have a rough circle about 12 inches in diameter.

3. Transfer the dough to a baking sheet, then head out to the grill.

4. Use an oil-soaked paper towel held with tongs to oil the grill grates.

5. Transfer pizza dough directly onto the grates. Cook for 3 minutes per side, or until cooked and lightly browned.

6. Return the crust to the baking sheet and immediately sprinkle the chocolate bits over the top. Wait 1 minute to allow the chocolate to melt, then use a butter knife or silicone spatula to spread the melted chocolate evenly over the crust. Sprinkle with the chopped strawberries and the flaked coconut. Enjoy warm.

Liquid Assets

Sip your way back to the origins of wine

LIQUID ASSETS
Peter Rockwell
@therealwineguy
peterrockwell@eastlink.cca

Forget about the fashion, music and auto industries. None are driven by trends more aggressively than the booze business.

While some subsegments virtually re-invent themselves every year, others simply go back to the future to find the next big thing.

The wine world spins like a top on this axis. Need proof? Though floundering for years, the juice from France and Italy is back on top again.

As consumers sip their way back to the origins of wine making, some polarizing flavour profiles are reaching out and grabbing the palates of wine lovers with a grip that even Iron Man would envy.

The hottest "what the heck" wine that has found fame is white moscato. Its romantic sounding name is actually the Italian translation of muscat — one of the oldest families of grapes in the world.

International winemakers have borrowed the term with E & J Gallo's Barefoot Moscato ($9.95 - $11.99) a prime example of the style's balance of easy-drinking, plush, white fruit sweetness and low alcohol.

Well chilled, moscato makes for a refreshing warm weather sipper and a fine match with fresh fruit, most cheeses and sugary desserts. PRICES REFLECT THE RANGE ACROSS THE COUNTRY. SOME PRODUCTS MAY NOT BE AVAILABLE IN ALL PROVINCES.

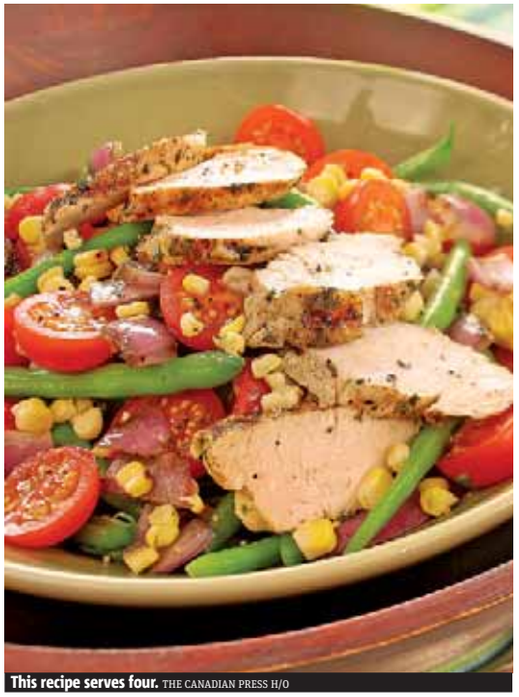
Summer fresh: turkey, green bean, tomato and corn salad



This recipe serves four. THE CANADIAN PRESS H/O

Turkey breast fillets are grilled alongside corn and onions and then tossed with crunchy green beans make a delectable summer meal.

Ingredients

- 500 g (1 lb) boneless, skinless turkey breast, cut into 2 fillets
- 30 ml (2 tbsp) olive oil, divided
- 125 ml (1/2 cup) chopped fresh cilantro, divided
- 5 ml (1 tsp) each, coarse salt and fresh cracked pepper, divided
- 1 clove garlic, minced
- 2 cobs corn, husked
- 1 red onion, peeled and sliced into 1-cm (1/2-inch) thick rounds
- 500 ml (2 cups) trimmed green beans
- 250 ml (1 cup) cherry tomatoes, halved
- 15 ml (1 tbsp) lime juice

1. In a re-sealable bag, combine turkey with half of the oil, cilantro, salt, pepper and garlic. Let marinate for at least 1 hour or up to one day.

2. Grill turkey over medium high heat until cooked through, about 10 minutes per side. Set aside to rest for five minutes before slicing across the grain.

3. Brush corn and onion rings with remaining oil and salt and pepper, grill until onion is tender and grill marks form on both the onions and corn, about 3 minutes per side. Transfer to cutting board and slice kernels from cobs. Chop onion. Add onion and corn to a bowl with green beans and cherry tomatoes. Toss with remaining cilantro. Sprinkle with lime juice and a pinch of coarse salt and fresh cracked pepper.

4. To serve: Divide salad over 4 plates and top each with equal amounts of sliced turkey.

Mushroom & Vegetable Satay. Light snack or app

1. In mixing bowl, whisk lemon juice, honey, soy sauce, ginger and garlic. Stir in mushrooms until coated. Marinate at room temperature for 60 mins., stirring occasionally. Meanwhile, soak bamboo skewers in water for same time. Separate red onion wedges into individual layers.

2. Remove mushrooms, reserving marinade in a small saucepan. Thread mushrooms, alternating with onion wedges and sugar peas onto wooden skewers. Grill on the barbecue for 3 minutes on each side.

3. Meanwhile cook noodles as directed on package and heat marinade until boiling for 1-2 minutes or until thickened slightly to use as sauce. Serve skewers on cooked noodles. Drizzle sauce over noodles and sprinkle with sesame seeds if using. Serve peanut sauce on side for dipping.

Just Opened: White Brick Kitchen

Not surprisingly, the newly opened White Brick Kitchen at 641 Bloor St. W. is situated in a white-brick building. Serving up American comfort food classics — like pork 'n' pickles, deviled eggs, fried chicken and meatloaf — White Brick Kitchen is bringing a slice of down-home American goodness to Little Korea.

Just Opened: Porsche Design

Lovers of all things sleek and sophisticated rejoice: Porsche Design House has opened its first Canadian outpost at 77 Bloor St. W. While you won't find the luxury cars being stocked in the 1,600 square-foot showroom, a plethora of lifestyle items from the design team is on display for purchase, from shoes to denim to sunglasses and watches.

Just Opened: Feel Good Guru

A new vegan take-out restaurant — or as their tag says "hyper-local, super-awesome, organic, plant-powered food" — has opened up at 917 Queen St. W. Feel Good Guru is serving up food that, well, makes you feel good, like their Make Kale Not War salad and Bangkok Doc noodles made of kelp and zucchini. Stop on by and order up some healthy gourmet comfort eats.

8th Annual Salsa on St. Clair

The stretch of St. Clair West from Winona Dr. to Christie Ave. is transformed into a showcase of Latin life featuring live music, dance lessons, fiery foods and family fun this Saturday and Sunday. The eighth annual Salsa on St. Clair is a vibrant street party that sees a real explosion of Latin culture for the masses to enjoy and imbue some heat into the weekend.

Boys' Night Out

Sorry ladies, this one's just for the gents. Lifford Wine's annual Boys' Night Out event takes over Evergreen Brick Works (550 Bayview Ave.) on July 12 for an evening of all things "dude": hot cars, boats, golf, fine wine, steaks, live entertainment, oysters, motorcycles, music, fashion, BBQ, auctions and so much more. All proceeds from this must-attend event benefit prostate cancer research.

Locals Only Festival

On Saturday at Amsterdam Brewery (21 Bathurst St.), Tag Vodka presents Locals Only: Festival of Food, Music and Art. More than 15 of the city's best bands and DJs will be performing live as 10 sensational food vendors, such as Hogtown Smoke and Gourmet B1tches, serve up delicious grub. Artists will also showcase their beautiful works. And, of course, you'll be able to grab a cold one while enjoying the fest.

Ballet lovers dancing for joy as their beloved art hits the mainstream

Tutu trend. What started with the film Black Swan has turned into a series of TV shows and sold-out ballet performances

"I'm really digging it," says Ronnie Underwood, a buff, tattooed motorcycle enthusiast, auto racer and former football player who also happens to be a ballet dancer.

Oh, and a reality show star. Underwood, 30, is one of the main characters on Breaking Pointe, the CW series about the lives and loves, trials and tribulations of the dancers at Ballet West, a highly regarded company in Salt Lake City.

The season comes to a finale next week, and suspense is high: Will Ronnie, Rex, Christiana and Allison be ready for their close-up? Or will opening-night jitters, not to mention relationship issues, derail their hard work? But we digress. What Underwood is "digging" is the broader fact that ballet, often relegated to a dusty, forgotten shelf in the current culture, seems to be having its moment in the sun.

Natalie Portman won plenty of critical praise for her role in Black Swan. HANDOUT

Besides Breaking Pointe, there's the ABC Family show Bunheads, starring the Tony-winning actress Sutton Foster (the title is dance-speak for ballerinas, a reference to their neatly coiled hairdos). And hugely popular dance-competition shows like Dancing with the Stars have featured guest turns by ballet dancers like Jose Manuel Carreno, recently retired from American Ballet Theatre, and the ballerina Tiler Peck of New York City Ballet.

There's also a popular documentary film garnering praise, First Position, which tracks young dancers in a global competition. But it's a much more famous 2010 film that gets much of the credit for starting the ballet mini-craze: Darren Aronofsky's cool and edgy Black Swan, which starred Natalie Portman and brought a whole new vibe to that stuffy classic, Swan Lake.

"Black Swan really did bring ballet into the mainstream pop culture consciousness in a way it hadn't been for a while — and that was great for us in the ballet world," says Rob Daniels, managing director at New York City Ballet.

Surge in ticket sales

Black Swan makes a flap

New York City Ballet managing director Rob Daniels says the company sold out its runs of Swan Lake for two seasons after the film opened.

"And it definitely felt the houses were younger — that young people were coming who'd seen the film and were curious about ballet," Daniels says.

Not that there was any lasting economic boon for NYCB or other ballet companies — like arts institutions, dance companies have had to struggle in a harsh economy.

But those in the dance world say, give it time — they're simply buoyed by the thought that more people may come to know and appreciate the art of ballet.

Serena powers past Azaranka in semis

Serena Williams had an ace up her sleeve on Centre Court, and she used it a Wimbledon-record 24 times.

The 13-time Grand Slam champion reached her seventh Wimbledon final on Thursday, smacking 24 aces to beat Victoria Azarenka 6-3, 7-6 (6) in the semifinals.

The final point of the match was, fittingly enough, the record-breaking ace.

"I've been working so hard, and I really, I really wanted it," said Williams, a four-time Wimbledon champion who lost in the first round of the French Open in late May. "I got a little tight in the second set. I couldn't relax. I was like, looking too far in the future and she came back. But I'm glad I was able to get through."

The previous Wimbledon record of 23 aces was also set by Williams, but in a three-set victory over Zheng Jie in the third round of this year's tournament.

Blue Jays call up pitcher Sam Dyson

The Toronto Blue Jays have promoted right-handed pitcher Sam Dyson to the big leagues.

The Blue Jays announced Thursday that the club selected Dyson's contract from the double-A New Hampshire Fisher Cats. The Jays also optioned Canadian right-hander Scott Richmond to triple-A Las Vegas to make room for Dyson.

'Pit bull' in play as Plan B for Raptors

NBA. Multiple sources say intense two-way point guard Lowry on way to Toronto in trade

One of the first NBA sources asked about Kyle Lowry called him a "pit bull."

One of the next couple of talent evaluators who asked for insight said he's as competitive as anyone in the league. A third called him a rapidly maturing talent who has grown into a leadership role as he's acquired NBA experience.

Somewhere, Toronto Raptors coach Dwane Casey must be smiling and team president and general manager Bryan Colangelo has to be quite happy with his so-called Plan B.

Moving with stunning quickness to ease the pain of a Steve Nash snub, the Raptors reached an agreement in principle Thursday to acquire Lowry from the Houston Rockets as soon as the NBA's moratorium on player movement is lifted July 11.

And the cost was minimal.

The Raptors will give up a lightly protected first-round pick once over the next five years along with seldom-used swingman Gary Forbes for Lowry, a 26-year-old point guard who will be entering his seventh NBA season this fall.

The six-foot Lowry averaged 14.3 points and 6.6 assists with the Rockets last season, missing the last quarter of the campaign with an infection.

He publicly said after the season that he didn't think he could co-exist with Rockets coach Kevin McHale after one season of trying to work together, a move that might have hastened the Rockets' pursuit of a trade.

But league sources say Lowry has matured greatly over the course of his career and that sometimes his competitive nature causes him to lash out.

A dogged defender with the ability to get to the rim on offence, he would seemingly fit into what coach Casey is trying to instill in the Raptors lineup.

Lowry does have a bit of a connection with the Raptors.

A native of Philadelphia who went to university at Villanova in the same city, he has followed the same career arc as former Raptors guard Alvin Williams.

Lowry and Williams remain close and the friendship will undoubtedly easy Lowry's transition to the Toronto franchise.

No one connected with the Raptors could officially comment — or even acknowledge — the transaction.

But it has been no secret that Lowry has been on Toronto's radar for some time and there were unconfirmed reports the Raptors tried to pry Lowry away from the Rockets on draft night late last month.

Nash explains Lakers choice

Steve Nash chose the Los Angeles Lakers because they're close to his children and to NBA title contention.

The two-time MVP point guard went on ESPN radio Thursday to discuss his decision to join his longtime rivals in Los Angeles, who will complete a sign-and-trade deal for the Phoenix Suns star next week.

The 38-year-old from Victoria says he spoke to Kobe Bryant by phone Monday to confirm the Lakers star wanted to work together. Bryant told Nash they would be a perfect fit in the Lakers' backcourt.

Columnist Dan Toth discusses how the Argos need to find their discipline, why Simon's best-receiver-ever coronation is premature and in which city a QB controversy is already brewing among other thoughts heading into the second week of Canadian football

Photos by The Canadian Press/Torstar News Service

Flags dragging down Boatmen

Argos head coach Scott Milanovich needs to teach his troops some discipline if they hope to succeed, no matter what QB Ricky Ray brings to the team in 2012. The club drew 18 flags in their season-opening loss in Edmonton, and Milanovich has to drill home the message or begin shuffling his roster.

Tempering Tate's great start in Calgary

The Stamps like life without Henry Burris, at least through one game. New Stamps starter Drew Tate is living up to expectations in Cowtown with a 300-yard passing game in the season opener. The big test now is playing three games in 12 days during their annual exodus East during Calgary Stampede Week.

Simon's numbers don't say it all

Don't be too quick to anoint Geroy Simon the best receiver in CFL history, even though he vaulted over Milt Stegall into first overall in career receiving yards. Stegall achieved his numbers with less proficient QBs, Ben Cahoon had better hands, Allen Pitts was tougher to defend and old-timers will tell you Hal Patterson was a combination of all those traits.

Pierce protection problem persists

We established last year that the Bombers were going nowhere if they couldn't protect QB Buck Pierce. The injury-prone pivot was sidelined by a knee injury when enduring one of four sacks last week in B.C., although he's expected to play Friday in Montreal. Still, Pierce won't succeed and might not survive the 2012 season without protection from the pass rush.

Easier being Green?

The Green Gods have put to rest six months of second-guessing among the faithful; terrified the team would struggle again in 2012. A road win over Hamilton in Week 1 has restored faith in the Riders. They haven't beaten a West Division opponent since the 2010 West Final in Calgary, but can end that streak with a win Sunday over Edmonton.

No smiles yet for sputtering Jyles

Can't remember the last time fans wanted their QB pulled when LEADING by a touchdown, but that's what happens when drives continually stall. New Eskimos starter Steven Jyles is thankful kicker Grant Shaw connected his four field goals in a Week 1 win over Toronto, but Jyles' ability to find the end zone is a work in progress.

CFL. Military life makes linebackers' work seem easy to Argos' McCune

Tangling with 300-pound linemen and running sideline to sideline to track down speedy running backs is the easiest job Robert McCune has ever had.

The Argonauts linebacker isn't mocking the demands of football. But they simply don't compare to the real-life threats military personnel deal with on a daily basis.

After graduating high school, he spent three years in the U.S. National Guard and served overseas in Korea, Kuwait and Afghanistan.

The six-foot, 240-pounder spent eight months in Afghanistan fuelling planes and other military vehicles. Working long hours in sweltering heat was a big challenge, but it paled in comparison to living with the constant threat of an attack.

"There was always that threat," McCune said. "There were nights you'd be lying in bed and you'd hear shots being fired or missiles blowing up or you'd wake up scared silly."

The 33-year-old McCune was hoping to play university football but opted for military life when no suitable scholarships came his way. With his father and sister both having served in the military before him, McCune said it wasn't a hard decision to follow in their footsteps. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Heroes remembered

One of the most memorable Argo teams ever — the 1971 squad that lost to Calgary in the Grey Cup — will be honoured at Saturday's home opener at the Rogers Centre.

- In addition to bringing back 16 of the players from that team, the Argos are also honouring various off-field heroes.
- Members of the Department of National Defence, War veterans as well as local police, firefighters and emergency medical service personnel will also be on hand. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

Morgan's TFC journey continues

Young fullback Ashtone Morgan, whose lung-busting runs and pinpoint crosses have helped kick-start the Toronto FC offence in recent weeks, has signed a long-term deal with the MLS club.

The 21-year-old graduate of the TFC Academy is in his second season with the first team.

"Ashtone represents the present and future of this club and he is an important player for us," head coach Paul Mariner said in a statement Thursday. "He is also a product of our Academy program and the current youth players can look up to Ashtone as an example of what the potential future holds for them."

Morgan, a five-foot-11 165-pounder from Toronto, has appeared in 29 league matches, starting 23 of those, and has five assists. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Horoscope

Aries | March 21 - April 20. A family feud is in the cards today but now that you know that, you can limit the chances of a serious falling-out by watching what you say.

Taurus | April 21 - May 21. No matter how irritating someone may be, you must not let them get under your skin. Be on the move as much as possible today.

Gemini | May 22 - June 20. What happens today will only be important if you choose to let it be important. That applies especially to money matters and business negotiations.

Cancer | June 21 - July 22. You will be both assertive and ambitious today, which could cause problems if others get the impression that you care for nothing but your own glory. Tone it down a bit.

Leo | July 23 - Aug. 22. You have something to say. It's something you think is important, but you have got to accept that, in saying it, you may upset a few people.

Virgo | Aug. 23 - Sept. 22. You may wonder why you have been singled out for so much good fortune, but in the greater scheme of things, nothing happens without a reason. Enjoy what you get today.

Libra | Sept. 23 - Oct. 22. You have what it takes to compete at the highest level, so don't let fear of failure hold you back. Get out there into the world and show creativity.

Scorpio | Oct. 23 - Nov. 21. If you are the kind of Scorpio who loves to travel, you could find yourself a long way from home over the next 24 hours. Don't worry about how you are going to get back.

Sagittarius | Nov. 22 - Dec. 21. You will have energy to spare over the next 24 hours, but it is your Sagittarian enthusiasm that will lead to success. Focus on what you are good at and on what you enjoy.

Capricorn | Dec. 22 - Jan 20. You're under a lot of pressure and because the pressure comes mainly from partners and colleagues, you could fall out with someone today.

Aquarius | Jan. 21 - Feb 18. You can achieve some remarkable things over the next few days, so forget about the easy life and push yourself harder than ever before.

Pisces | Feb. 19 - March 20. You've had your fill of talk and you've had your fill of trying to plan things out in great detail — all you want to do is get busy on a project that you believe in. SALLY BROMPTON
